Police Chief addresses sidewalk concerns

If you have driven around town lately you have noticed the many sidewalk addition and improvement projects that have taken place. These sidewalks are intended to improve pedestrian safety as well as the overall quality of life for our citizens.

Over the past couple of weeks the Police Department has received several complaints regarding horses being ridden on the sidewalks and the remnants that are left behind. Sometimes with growth and improvement there are unforeseen problems that arise. The horses have become one of these problems.

We want to re-assure you that this issue is not going unnoticed or being ignored. The Police Department is working in conjunction with the Mayors' Office and the City Attorney to propose ordinances which will alleviate this problem.
